

FREQUENCY CLEANSE

By Priestess Sekhmet

These are positive commands to reset your mental and emotional creative tones, vibration and frequencies. They will create positive outcomes in the reality environment in which you exist.

Please recite these commands regularly to cleanse your own internal frequencies from negative energy and activate you to participate in the new collective reality of creating a better world.

I am a positive co-creator and I take responsibility for all that I create.

I am in control of my thoughts, words and feelings and I always use these co-creative powers in a responsible way.

I use my thoughts to support my intentions and my intentions are always in full alignment with universal law and nature, as well as, my own divine free will.

I use my thoughts to create positive realities that are in harmony with nature and create a loving and harmonious environment for all who exist in my reality.

PSYCHIC ADVICE REPORT BY PRIESTESS SEKHMET

I know that my words have tremendous creative power and I always use my words to co-create positive realities and outcomes.

My words are in full alignment with universal law and nature and they always are in conformity with my divine free will.

My thoughts are always positive and filled with unconditional love because I understand that it is through unconditional love that I have the power to create reality in a way that is supportive of life and positive co-creation.

I understand that it is through positive co-creation that collectively we will heal our world and create a more nurturing energy environment that supports love and life.

I understand that by using my thoughts to create positive realities, I am operating within my full co-creative potential and I am fulfilling my God-given purpose.

I use my feelings to create positive realities that are in harmony with nature and create a loving and harmonious environment for all who exist in my reality.

I understand that my feelings have tremendous creative power and it is through this creative force that all that exists within creation has been created.

I only use my feelings to create positive realities and positive outcomes that support love and life.

My feelings are in full alignment with universal law and nature and are in full conformity with my divine will. And so it is!
